SAINT FRANCIS HOSPITAL

Biventricular pacing, Port Access, CAD and AcQSIM -- these are some of the technological innovations that distinguish Saint Francis Hospital and Medical Center as a sophisticated, contemporary medical institution and one of the 100 Top Hospitals in the United States. Saint Francis is a leader in the diagnosis and treatment of cancer and heart disease. Saint Francis is the home of the Hoffman Heart Institute of Connecticut, the first comprehensive heart institute in southern New England. More open-heart surgeries are performed at Saint Francis than at any other hospital in Connecticut. Among the therapies pioneered by physicians at the Hoffman Heart Institute is the implantation of a new type of pacemaker for patients suffering from congestive heart failure as well as disruptions in their heart's electrical systems.

Hoffman Heart physicians have also pioneered port access heart surgery. The minimally invasive procedure eliminates the need to separate the breastbone to reach the heart, one of the most traumatic aspects of conventional heart surgery. Saint Francis is the only hospital in the state performing this procedure.

Saint Francis is equally dedicated to the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. The detection of so-called clinically silent breast cancers is enhanced through computer aided detection (CAD) technology at the Saint Francis Comprehensive Breast Health Center. Purchased through the hospital's Auxiliary, Saint Francis was first in the state with this technology that digitally scans mammograms for cancers not immediately detectable through traditional visual examination. Clinical studies have demonstrated that CAD can improve the detection of breast cancers in mammograms by as much as 20 percent. The Saint Francis/Mount Sinai Regional Cancer Center also was the first in Connecticut to acquire AcQSIM*, an advanced simulator that allows physicians to more quickly and precisely plan and deliver radiation treatments for certain cancers.

HOSPITAL SHOWCASE

WELLSPRING

At The Wellspring Foundation, treatment is aimed toward recovery and return to normal life. Family members are expected to be actively involved in the treatment process. The family-style ambience of each program is designed to nurture self-esteem and promote healthy normalization through caring relationships. Along with school and formal therapies, residents learn to work and to develop positive values through performing basic tasks such as gardening, care of animals and cooking. The daily living experience of relationships within the milieu gives both immediacy and depth to treatment interventions. Active participation by the residents in the life of each community fosters the development of responsibility and leadership skills.

Wellspring's therapeutic programs are comprehensive and intensive, supported by medical supervision and nursing presence. Individual, family, group, emotional-expressive and creative-expressive modalities are coordinated to address issues in a concerted way.

Specialized tracks for eating disorder, severe attachment difficulties and substance abuse are provided within the general program. Our state-approved therapeutic special education school serves the residential programs and surrounding communities. The Wellspring Foundation is a multi-service mental health agency, licensed by the State of Connecticut, accredited by JCAHO. For more information, please contact our Intake Coordinator at 203-266-8022.

MIDSTATE MEDICAL CENTER

What components make up MidState Medical Center's core values? They include Respect, Caring and Teamwork and by embracing these three values, we allow MidState to be what it is: a great place in which to work and serve our community!

Respect - We acknowledge others within the hospital by eye contact, a smile and address them directly by name. We listen actively and check to make sure that the party we are addressing understands.

Caring - We introduce ourselves by name and function and ask others how they are feeling, both physically and emotionally. We listen attentively and empathetically, assume responsibility for needs we discover and respond promptly to others' needs.

Teamwork - We look for and act on mutual benefits of cooperation with our department and other departments. We address problems and/or inappropriate behavior when they arise and only with those involved or those who need to know.

YALE NEW HAVEN HOSPITAL

Searching the Internet for reliable health information can be both a fruitful and a frustrating experience. As several organizations have found when they set out to review the accuracy of health information posted on the Web, not all sites are created equally. With this in mind, Yale-New Haven Hospital published Making the Right Choice on the Web: Safe Surfing for Health Information, a 30-page booklet developed to help people find information, as well as equip them to be more discriminating about what they find.

The booklet is designed to aid people who want to supplement the information they receive

Have you been to MidState Medical Center lately? We are growing all the time and would love to tell you about it!
